

SET THE TRUMPET TO YOUR MOUTH

(Chuck Girard/Karen Girard)

Narration: In the distance, a multitude of people gathered into groups. One group is singing and dancing, while demon forces terrorize the people outside their circle. Another group is fighting among themselves while demons watch and laugh. Groups throughout the throng engage in varying activities. Some are asleep. Some are nursing wounds. And some are valiantly resisting forces of darkness as they forge ahead.

I see the day beginning and it looks like the day is new
F Am
I see a people in the distance just talkin'
F Am
I see a shadow in the distance just watchin'

C Am
There's a man sitting down over there and as I watch, He begins to rise
C Am
I'm impressed as he stands to his feet by his grace, and by his size
F Am
He lifts his hands and he beckons to the people who are talkin'
F Am
He starts to move and all at once all the people start a walkin'
